www.gostudyspain.es
First of all, the Spanish language is spoken by about 400 million native speakers in 21 different countries and approx. 200 million non-native Spanish speakers have studied or are studying this widespread language.

In the last ten years the demand for Spanish Language courses worldwide has more than doubled. The numbers speak for themselves; do not let yourself be left out of what seems to be a global cultural phenomenon.

The second, and for many students the most important, reason to study Spanish is to improve their CV and help open up many future career opportunities. In the USA alone there are more than 30 million Spanish speakers and the number is increasing year by year. Being able to speak Spanish is becoming more and more important for many job positions, and in some cases it is a clear requirement. Even though Spanish is not strictly necessary for your future career, speaking a foreign language (and especially Spanish) is looked upon very positively by the majority of job interviewers.

For many people, a third reason to learn Spanish is that they wish to be able to understand and improve their experience of the Spanish and Latin American cultures. Apart from the importance in world history, these cultures have made a huge impact on the arts, literature, music and film worlds. Being able to read the original version of Cervantes' Don Quixote or one of the many Garcia Marques books is just one of the great pleasures of understanding Spanish. Or what about seeing and understanding an Almodóvar movie in its original version or the music and art of Flamenco dancing.
why Spain

You might ask yourself "Why go all the way to Spain to learn Spanish when you can study Spanish in a language school in your home town?"

The most effective, easiest, and according to the majority of students also the most entertaining way to learn a foreign language is to study it in a country where the language is spoken. Apart from the classroom teaching being more intensive than it would normally be in your home country (3-5 hours per day compared with the 2-4 hours per week that would be normal when studying a language in your home country), the teachers are in most cases also better prepared and more experienced. In Spain, teachers are all native Spanish speakers and all have a university degree in Spanish Philology, whereas this is not always the case abroad. But the most important reason - and what makes it so effective to study in Spain is that you will not only be learning and practising during class hours but nearly 24 hours a day. Outside class hours, when you go to the supermarket or participate in one of the many activities arranged by GSS, you will have to practise what you have learnt in class. You will even learn Spanish with activities that are normally described as leisure such as watching TV or going out at night. This is also the reason why most students believe that learning Spanish in Spain is both an easy and an entertaining process.

So why Spain and not another Spanish speaking country?

First of all, Spain is the home of the Spanish language and the origin from which the Spanish language was exported to the rest of the Spanish speaking world, making it the natural choice for studying Spanish.

Of course this is not the most important reason. More important are all the interesting attractions this country can offer. Every year, Spain is visited by more than 40 million people, making it the second most visited country in the world. Apart from learning the language, people come to Spain to enjoy the perfect weather and nice beaches, to experience the many places of cultural interest such as antique Roman and Moorish monuments or fabulous museums containing the works of Spanish painters such as Goya, Picasso and Dali, to enjoy the delicious Spanish food or fantastic nightlife and for hundreds of other reasons.

Apart from this, Spain's location also gives overseas students the ability to experience other European countries with relative ease, being only a few hours away by plane, which enhances the already fulfilling experience.
At GSS we offer Spanish programs at three different locations in Spain:

- Madrid
- Málaga
- Salamanca

These locations have been carefully selected for the quality of the Spanish courses available at the universities there, and also to make it possible for us at GSS to be able to offer three unique, but also very attractive, Spanish cities.

If for any reason you have a specific request about studying in another Spanish city, please contact us as we might be able to help you.
destination Madrid

The city

Madrid is the capital of Spain, and is home to the Spanish Royal family as well as the Spanish Government.

It is a modern metropolitan city and an economical and industrial center of Spain, and, with its population of nearly 3.5 million people, is also the biggest city in Spain.

It is located in the centre of the Iberian Peninsula, and is surrounded by mountains and natural parks. Although it is located in the centre of the country, it has traditionally been the hub between different areas of Spain and is therefore connected to all major Spanish cities by train, road or air.

Madrid has a lot of interesting attractions that offer both culture and amusement. The city is full of great monuments, like the royal palace, the Plaza Mayor or the many statues, and for people interested in art, the museums Del Prado, Reina Sofia or Thyssen have some of the most fantastic collections of famous Spanish painters like Velazquez, Goya, Picasso or Miro.

If you like to be entertained, Madrid has two big amusement parks (including the new Warner Bros park) and there are regular international concerts, big flea markets, parades and other activities going on.

To sport enthusiasts Madrid can offer everything from skiing (only 1 hour away by bus) during the winter, to golf all year round, as well as international sporting events and the possibility to practice nearly any sport at the University facilities.

The University

Complutense University is located in the western area of Madrid called Moncloa, about 15 minutes away from the central shopping areas of Madrid. Complutense is a public university and is owned by the Spanish State. It is one of the oldest and biggest Universities in the world, with more than 500 years of experience and a current number of 130,000 students (among them about 4000 foreign students).

The Complutense University of Madrid traces its origins back to the 13th century, when King Sancho IV of Castilla founded a school on the banks of the river ‘Compluto’ (which is located 50km from Madrid and today is called Heneraes).

In 1836 the University was transferred to Madrid and was renamed "Universidad Central". Madrid had, 200 years earlier, been named capital of Spain and Queen Isabel II considered it important to have a university in the center of the Capital.
Malaga city, bordered by the Mediterranean sea, is located in the South of Spain in the Andalucia region and in an area that is also known as Costa del Sol.

It is the 5th largest city in Spain with its population of about 600,000 people, and is both a modern business centre of the South and a typical Andalusian city with its relaxed atmosphere. The history of Malaga dates back to about 3000 years ago when the town was first founded by the Phoenicians. The strategic position next to the Mediterranean sea has made the province a very disputed area, being occupied in the past by Carthaginians, Romans and Moors.

Visitors to Malaga can still see interesting monuments that are representative of different periods in Malaga’s history, such as the Roman theatre and the Gibralfaro castle and fortress. Malaga is best known internationally for its nice weather, attractive beaches and many international golf courses. With more than 300 days of sun per year, the Costa del Sol is one of the most popular tourist destinations in Spain. Just 20 minutes West of the centre of Malaga you find other popular tourist destinations like Marbella, Torremolinos and Benalmadena. Malaga is not only a popular tourist destination, it is also the business centre of Southern Spain. Malaga airport and harbour are amongst the busiest in Spain, and the newly built Technological Park and international congress centre have attracted both national and international companies to the area.

Malaga is also a cultural town, and apart from the historical monuments available in the city, also offers its visitors and residents interesting museums, festivals and theatres. The most important museum is the newly opened Picasso museum, which is dedicated to the famous Malaga born painter.

Malaga City has a great variety of restaurants, bars and bodegas (a pub or type of wine bar where you can try the local Malaga wine directly from the barrel). The people living in Malaga love going out for drinks, a chat, or for partying, and the city center gets crowded every night of the week.

The University

Initially the Spanish programs were held in a building in the historic centre of Malaga, where the philology faculty was also installed. When the faculty of philology was moved to the new Teatinos campus, the Spanish courses were relocated to a new building in the center of Malaga.

Today, the Spanish language courses are still held in the centre of Malaga, in a modern building located in the new part of the centre of Malaga.

More than 2000 foreign students participate in one of the different Spanish language and culture courses offered by Malaga University each year. The participating students come from all over the world.

The Spanish teachers at Malaga University are all highly qualified, having a university degree in Spanish philology and extensive experience in teaching the Spanish language.
Salamanca is located in the centre of the Iberian Peninsula within the province of Castilla Leon. It is also close to the border with Portugal and only a couple of hours from the capital of Spain, Madrid. The city has 170,000 inhabitants and the main industries (apart from the University) are the service sector and agriculture.

The climate in Salamanca varies from cold during the winter season, occasionally reaching the freezing point in winter, to extreme heat in summer. Salamanca is best known as being a University city; more than 30,000 people, which is nearly 20 percent of the population, are students and a great part of the inhabitants are either directly or indirectly related to the university.

Today, apart from a famous university town, Salamanca is a modern city with a good infrastructure, also celebrating many international conferences and important cultural events. It is a UNESCO World Heritage City and, in 2002, was named the European Cultural Capital.

The main monuments in Salamanca are the old cathedral which dates back to the beginning of the 15th century, the old university buildings with their outstanding Spanish plateresque style, as well as the big central square ‘Plaza Mayor’ which was built in the 18th century using a baroque style.

Apart from all the monuments, the city also offers many cultural attractions like theatres, concerts and other events; Salamanca is also known for its interesting nightlife, with students going out for a tapa (snack), to chat or dance throughout the week.

The University

Salamanca University is one of the oldest universities in Europe, and was founded by the Spanish King Alfonse IX in 1218. 36 years later it was acknowledged by Pope Alexander IV and was meant to be one of the four great Universities of the world, along with the universities of Oxford, Paris and Bologna.

With more than 30,000 students per year and more than 250 different programmes offered, it is one of the most important universities in Spain.

In 1929 Salamanca University started to offer Spanish language and culture courses to foreign students studying at the university.

The Spanish spoken in Salamanca is the purest in Spain, which also makes the city a popular destination for foreigners wishing to learn Spanish; in fact today more than 3,500 foreign students participate in the many different Spanish Language programs offered by the university.

The Spanish courses take place in one of the traditional university buildings called ‘Escuelas Menores’, located right in the heart of the historic centre of Salamanca.

For any and all the programs available at Go Study Spain, students who have participated in at least 80-90% of classes will get a diploma or attendance certificate stating the course they have been studying, subjects, number of hours and exact dates. For some programs, in order to get a final mark, it is necessary to take an exam at the end of the course whereas for other programs the teacher gives an overall evaluation of the student’s abilities and progress over the course period as well as a final mark.

As to the credits available, it is not possible to give any exact information about how many credits you will get for a specific course as this is a decision that is taken by your home university.

According to our experience a one month course in Spain with approx. 100 class hours will give about 6 US semester credits, a 3 month trimester course with about 250 class hours will give approx. 16 US semester credits, a 4 month semester course will yield about 20 credits and a full year course from 30 to 50 credits, depending on the total number of hours.

Generally it is possible for you to earn credits from your Spanish studies in Spain that can be used towards your core or general education hours or towards your major or electives if they are somehow related to Spain.

The first thing you will have to do if you would like to obtain credits for your studies in Spain is to contact your study abroad advisor or Spanish language department for full information about what is needed and what the application process is.

Normally the study abroad office will ask for information regarding the course you plan to study and make you fill out a number of forms.

Apart from being able to show them the confirmation letter from the university that states the exact course and dates you are signed up for, we can also help you with a general description of the course if necessary.

When you have got pre-approval for your study abroad plans, you will be ready to go to Spain. Upon finishing the course and taking the final exams (which is normally required to get credits) we will make sure that the Spanish university sends the transcript directly to your home university (you will need to inform us of the appropriate contact details). If your university needs any other information from the Spanish university, we will help with this as well.

After having received the transcript from Spain, the credit coordinator at your university will assign you the final number of credits you will get for your studies in Spain.

Shared flats

This is for you if: You want to meet new people and exchange culture and other experiences with fellow students. You probably also enjoy maintaining a good degree of personal freedom. Shared Flats are a really popular choice amongst students and, while co-existing with fellow students will mean working out the daily routines of maintenance with them as well as requiring some degree of responsibility and understanding, the benefits are well worth it.

Characteristics: The Shared Student Flats, which are the best of their class, are fully furnished 3 - 5 bedroom apartments with a shared kitchen, 1 or 2 shared bathrooms and living room with dining area, sofas and TV.

Host family

This is for you if: You're looking for that extra bit of Spanish authenticity. Maybe you want to live and learn Spain and the Spanish way of life to the maximum. It could also be that you just enjoy being looked after. A home stay with a Spanish family is a great way to fully immerse yourself, to enjoy authentic Spanish home-cooking, experience the lifestyle and take advantage of a great way to speed your learning process by using the language in everyday situations with the family.

Characteristics: Students have their own room and live as part of some of the nicest and friendliest Spanish families available. All meals (full board) are included, as well as laundry service. You will have your own house key so you will have freedom to come and go pretty much as you please.

Own flat

This is for you if: You enjoy your freedom and independence. Maybe you only want to share a place with a particular person or partner and no-one else.

Note: Private Apartments are only available in Salamanca.

Characteristics: Both apartments and studios are fully furnished, having their own bathroom as well as kitchen. Apartments will have a separate bedroom and living room while Studios have the bedroom and living area combined. All are of first class quality and are well situated, being close to the centre and within walking distance of places of interest and, where applicable, well connected to public transport.

At GSS we believe in the old saying "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy". This is why a crucial part of our programs is to provide a whole range of free time activities to make sure that you, the student, also have a great time outside the class (which isn't to say that you're not going to enjoy being in class!). We also believe that having fun is an important tool for learning, and thanks to our series of "Home" (activities in and around your base city) and "Away" (several day excursions away from your base city) activities, at the same time you're having fun, you'll be meeting Spanish and other foreign students (who will be participating in the activities alongside you) and, maybe without realising it, you'll be perfecting your Spanish skills by practicing what you have learnt in class while you get to know the Spanish youth and culture better.

We don't want to throw you in at the deep end, so, as part of the process of settling in and getting to know your surroundings a bit better, we arrange a pre-study preparation program at the beginning of your stay, no matter the university you choose. It usually consists of 4 days during which you are given guided tours of the city, also visiting attractions, restaurants, etc around the city, and during which you'll be introduced to the Spanish way of life.

Just one of the kinds of activities we arrange for your enjoyment, and as part of your learning process, are excursions to different places of interest and which are away from your base city. These excursions usually take place once a month and last between 2 and 5 days, with all accommodation and transport included. Depending on the city you study in, destinations can include: Seville, Bilbao, Valencia, Malaga, Barcelona, Granada, Tarifa in Cadiz, Morocco, Madrid, Portugal, Segovia, etc.

We also arrange a series of local activities for each program which can include visits to places in and around your base city, cultural activities such as visits to local monuments and museums, Flamenco dancing, language exchange, visits to amusement and water parks, trips to the theatre or cinema, night tours to popular pubs, restaurants, discos and other places of interest relating to the local nightlife, sporting activities, etc. These are an excellent opportunity to enjoy and get to know the local area while, as always, getting to know the Spanish youth and culture.
At GSS we believe that the Health & Safety of our students is a very important consideration to take into account. We understand that there can be worries associated to spending any amount of time abroad, and so we make it a priority to make sure that all our students feel, and really are, well looked after. To this end, all our students benefit from:

- An insurance policy that covers medical, evacuation and luggage and personal effects, protects our students from the moment they begin traveling, throughout their stay with us in Spain, and until they arrive home again.

- Guidance and help from our friendly local staff, who will not only accompany and participate with students on the various activities, but also, being on-site and speaking both English and Spanish, will be there to solve any issues or answer any queries, promptly and effectively for the whole duration of the student’s stay.

- A 24H Emergency Contact Number will be available for use in the unlikely event of an emergency, and where our staff can be contacted 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

We want our students to feel comfortable from the get go and in order to help achieve this, GSS includes:

- An airport pickup service in which the student is met by a member of our local staff and escorted to the student’s new accommodation.

- A pre-study Cultural Adaptation program, usually lasting 4 days, in which students are able to get a head start to their study experience by being guided around their new surroundings, visiting local places of interest, being introduced to Spanish society and the way of life, and generally familiarizing themselves with the city in which they will be staying.

Of course our care and attention to detail also extends to all other aspects of helping our students, even well before arrival or after departure. Amongst other things, we offer our help and support during the process of obtaining university credits or applying for a visa or even when getting flight tickets. Surely now you feel there is less to worry about?

Terms and Conditions

1. Refunds and Changes.

GSS will Refund:
- 100% of payments received minus a 500€ administration fee when cancelling more than 4 weeks before arrival date.
- 90% of payments received when cancelling less than 4 weeks before the arrival date.
- There is no refund for cancellations made after the arrival date.

All Accommodation changes (i.e. type of accommodation, where and when) are free of charge when communicated to GSS up to 4 weeks before the arrival date. Thereafter, changes are subject to availability, with a 50€ administration fee being applicable.

2. Deposit.

When booking your program through GSS, we require a deposit of 500€ to secure a place in any of our programs. This is refundable according to the terms specified by our refund policy.

3. Accommodation.

3.1 Shared Flats.
- Deposit: Certain flats may require a refundable deposit of between 200€ and 500€. This deposit will be reimbursed after handing in the keys, and once the accommodation has been inspected for damages and is found to be in a fit and clean state, ready for future occupants.
- Water & Electricity: Water and electricity usage is included in the price.
- Community charges: Are included in the price.
- Gas: As many flats in Spain work with gas bottles, having to be ordered and paid for as and when required, any bottles required after occupying the accommodation must be paid for by the students. On average this should cost about 5-8 euros per person per month.
- Telephone & Internet: It is not usual for there to be a fixed line installed in shared flats as landlords do not want to be economically responsible for calls made by their tenants. GSS does however provide students on its programs with a mobile phone to make and receive calls as well as a number of international phone cards. Students, after requesting permission, are normally allowed to install a fixed telephone line in the flat, the cost of which must be paid for by individual or participating students. This would also allow for an internet connection to be installed, the cost of which would again be the responsibility of the student or students involved.
- Laundry: Most flats will have a washing machine that can be freely used, but in the few cases where this may not be so; there will be a common washing area for the block where each user pays for their washes.
- Minor maintenance: Students are responsible for minor maintenance of the flat such as changing light bulbs or replacing gas bottles.

3.2 Own Flat or Studio.
- Water & Electricity: Water and electricity usage is included in the price.
- Community charges: Unless otherwise clearly stated, this is included in the price.
- Gas: As many flats in Spain work with gas bottles, having to be ordered and paid for as and when required, any bottles required after occupying the accommodation must be paid for by the students. On average this should cost about 5-8 euros per person per month.
- Telephone: Although possible, it is not certain for there to be a fixed line installed in a flat or studio as landlords do not want to be economically responsible for calls made by their tenants. GSS does however provide students on its programs with a mobile phone to make and receive calls as well as a number of international phone cards. Students, after requesting permission, are normally allowed to install a fixed telephone line in the flat, the cost of which must be paid for by individual or participating students. This would also allow for an internet connection to be installed, the cost of which would again be the responsibility of the student or students involved.
- Laundry: Most flats will have a washing machine that can be freely used, but in the few cases where this may not be so; there will be a common washing area for the block where each user pays for their washes.
- Minor maintenance: Students are responsible for minor maintenance of the flat such as changing light bulbs or replacing gas bottles.

3.3 Host Families.
- Water, Electricity & Gas: Water, electricity and gas usage is included in the price. As water resources are not unlimited in Spain, only one shower is permitted per day.
- Board: Full board includes a minimum of 3 meals a day.
- Telephone: Students will be allowed to receive calls on the family phone but not to make them as the hosts do not want to be economically responsible for calls made by their guests. GSS does however provide students on its programs with a mobile phone to make and receive calls as well as a number of international phone cards.
- Laundry: Is included in the price.
- Unreasonable costs: Any costs incurred that are considered to be beyond reasonable will have to be covered by the student, being deducted from the deposit if necessary.

3.4 General rules of accommodation.
- Visits: Short-term visits are generally allowed but, to avoid any conflict with the landlord, will require prior permission from GSS.
- Damages: The landlord reserves the right to charge for cleaning or the repair of any damages if the accommodation is not left in the same condition as it was on arrival.
- Departure date: The accommodation must be vacated by the time and date specified at the moment of booking, unless otherwise specified by a further agreement with GSS. GSS reserves the right to charge for any infringement of this rule.
- Duration of stay: It is possible to book accommodation for durations longer than that of your studies, arriving earlier and/or leaving later than the program and/or course dates. Should availability mean this is not possible, you will be informed by GSS after receipt of your registration form.

- Late fee: All registrations received within 4 weeks of the starting date are subject to a late fee of 200€ due to the increased cost of finding accommodation on short notice.
- Holidays: Classes cancelled due to local, national or bank holidays will normally not be made up by additional classes. Exceptions to this rule are at the discretion of each university.

5. Disclaimer of Liability.

GSS works as an independent agent and cannot be held liable for any damage occurred to you during your stay and your travel to and from Spain.
